John Waterhouse

We are delighted to welcome award-winning artist John Waterhouse to Whitewall Galleries. John is one of Britain's most talented and versatile oil painters, acclaimed for his still life, landscapes and figurative pieces.

The breadth of his subject matter reflects his passion for the visual impact of the world we live in if we only took the time to look closely.

A mist-covered hillside, an exquisite piece of china, a white shoulder contrasting with a scarlet dress, all these have provided inspiration for this beautiful collection of original oil paintings.

Born in 1967, John was interested in art from an early age and was encouraged by his parents, especially his artistic mother. After a variety of art-related employment including teaching painting to young offenders, he began to take on commissions which inevitably led to shows. Such was his success that he turned to painting full time and over the last 10 years has become one of the UK's most admired and collectable landscape artists.
